

Knowledgeable. Credible. Dependable.

Investing in Integrity, Independence, and You.

From its conception in 2003, KCD Financial has provided representatives with the tools needed to succeed while prioritizing their growth and independence. As an independently-owned broker-dealer and registered investment advisor, we proudly serve independent financial planners nationwide.

Your Business. Your Way. KCD.

“Supportive and fun team at KCD! They have greeted me with open arms, giving the opportunity to grow and develop over the past year.”

Assistance for Any Experience Level

At KCD, we invest in you. That means no tricks, no gimmicks, and no upcharges. As an independent brokerage firm, we make sure you get every penny you're owed. We don't add our own costs onto annual licensing fees and we ensure you receive the highest net payouts you've worked diligently for.

Whether you're starting out as an independent representative or you already have a wealth of experience under your belt, KCD meets you on your level with the knowledge, credibility, and dependability needed to make grounded financial decisions.

How KCD Supports You

When you work with KCD, you're working with a proud member of FINRA, MSRB, and SIPC. We know how to navigate the most complex of compliance regulations with ease and can help you identify the best opportunities for growth for your unique situation.

Looking for More Than Just a Broker-Dealer?

1. Guiding Incoming Representatives

For representatives just breaking into the industry, KCD helps develop them into the independent professionals they aspire to be through personalized succession planning and tailored one-on-one mentorship opportunities.

2. Empowering Independence

We offer the best of both worlds for our reps, supporting their independence while helping to build their book of business. With white-labeled compliance and the flexibility to work without mandatory hours or a call-center atmosphere, our representatives have the resources to reach their goals with confidence.

3. Investing in Relationships

In a world where everything's going self-checkout, we stand out by offering real, personal support. When you call, we'll know your name. We're here to build strong relationships, whether it's grabbing lunch, providing new opportunities, or extending a hand when you need it most.

4. Removing Product and Service Limitations

We know your goal is to best serve your clients, and we'll give you the freedom to do just that. With no proprietary products, a broad product selection menu, and few service limitations, our reps can build a diverse portfolio, including alternative investments, the way they see fit, and get the compensation they deserve.

As a KCD-backed representative, you can rest assured that we'll help you make informed choices about your clients' investments while you take home the proper compensation.
